£80M. CAN TONALI REBUILD SPURS?

Sandro Tonali • Newcastle • linked to Spurs.

A 6-part breakdown

0101 / 06

| THE REPORT.

Romano says Spurs have joined the race for Newcastle's Sandro Tonali. De Zerbi is keen and the player is open, but Newcastle do not want to sell and want around £80m. Arsenal, City, Juventus and Milan are circling too. Linked, not done.

0202 / 06

| WHO HE IS.

An Italy international midfielder, the engine of any side he plays in. Brescia to AC Milan to Newcastle in 2023, where he returned from a 10-month betting ban in 2024 and won the crowd back.

0303 / 06

| THE QUALITY.

Box-to-box legs, a deep passing range, a tackler's edge. When Newcastle are good, he is usually why. A genuine top-six midfielder.

0404 / 06

| THE OBSTACLE.

Newcastle do not want to sell, the fee is around £80m, and there is no Champions League at Spurs next season. The other suitors can offer both.

0505 / 06

| WHY IT MAKES SENSE.

The De Zerbi fit is obvious, the midfield spine is exactly what Spurs lack, and a signing this big tells everyone the club is serious again.

0606 / 06

| WHY IT MIGHT NOT.

Would a player this good drop to a no-Europe Spurs over Arsenal or City? At £80m, with Newcastle dug in, this is the line between ambition and wishful thinking.
